So some how I'm paying $5500 a year so full coverage on a car thats almost 9 years old. The car isn't even book value at $4000 let alone $5500 a year for insurance. That's the cheapest quote I could find. Some of the businesses I have contacted to get a quote either said $7000-$7500 a year to even turning me down and telling me I should go to a bank, like rbc insurance. I have no tickets, no accidents. I have never been pulled over, But yet some poeple younger then me some how end up paying less then me.. it makes no sense and something needs to be done about it. They wonder why people are leaving Newfoundland? It's because people cant afford to live here let alone pay super high premium rates.
